Coach Picks Team; Captain Wins 1500

BULLETIN

Jim O'Connor, co-captain of the Bowling Green swimming team successfully defended his 1500-meter Mid-American Conference title last night in the opening event of the MAC relays. Dave Hamilton, of Bowling Green, repeated in second place, and Walt Deichert, BG, picked up sixth-place points for the Falcons.

Coach Sam Cooper today officially disclosed to The B-G News his entrants in the remaining conference events.

This morning Don Worsfold, Dave Hamilton, and Ralph Carbonero will vie in the 50-yd. freestyle. Ohio's Tad Potter and Miami's John Humphries will lead the opposition. Jim Elliott, Jack Michael, and Bill Castanien will be out to upset the Redskin favorite, Bob Hammer, in the diving.

Later today backstrokers Ralph Eakins and Dick Somerville face Warren Blaugrund from Miami and Don Winter from Kent in the 200-yd. backstroke. Captain Jim O'Connor, Bill Muir, and Paul Atkinson will swim the 220-yd. freestyle. Ron Reigler, the Kent "workhorse," will be pressing the BG trio. BG has Karl Seidl, John Thompson, and Jim Repp in the 200-yd. butterfly. The 400-yd. freestyle relay team is composed of Worsfold, Muir, Atkinson, and Dick Rose.

Tomorrow morning the Falcons will enter the same divers in the three-meter fancy diving as they did in today's one-meter fancy diving.

Eakins, Atkinson, and Somerville will carry the Falcon hopes in the 100-yd. backstroke. Miami's Dennis O'Brien holds the MAC record in this event. Thompson, Carbonero, and Repp have drawn the starting nomination from Cooper in the 200-yd. breaststroke. Roger Dains, co-captain of the Miami contingent, and Ohio's Al Lephart are strong contenders in the race.

The 100-yd. freestyle will again pit Worsfold and Potter. Muir and Rose are the other Falcon competitors in this event.

Four Falcon warriors will be out to nail top honors in the 440-yd. freestyle. They include Hamilton, O'Connor, Seidl, and Walt Deichert. Kent's Reigler must be reckoned with by this quartet.

The 200-yd. individual medley is a new event on this year's program. The fabulous O'Brien looms as the man who will set the record. Swimming for the Falcons are Thompson, Carbonero, and Repp.

BG Debaters Attend West Point Tourney

Bowling Green State University debaters, Deloris Conley and Robert C. Smith, participated in the West Point Elimination Debate Tournament at Purdue March 1-3.

The University of Illinois and the University of Illinois, Navy Pier branch, at Chicago tied for first place, each winning six debates and losing none, said Raymond Yeager, debate coach.

There was a five-way tie for second place. Because the top five teams compete in the finals at West Point, an elimination round among those schools was held.

Two Campus Movies Planned For Week End

Two campus movies are on the schedule for this week end, according to the student activities office.

"Magnificent Obsession," starring Jane Wyman, Barbara Rush, and Rock Hudson, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. Friday. The book was a best-seller, and the movie has been popular.

"Meet Danny Wilson" will be the feature Saturday. It stars Shelly Winters and Frank Sinatra. The movie tells about the career of a singer, similar to Sinatra's own career.

BG Magazine Sent This Month

A new record for distribution of a University publication will be set when 15,000 copies of the Bowling Green State University Magazine are sent out this month.

The magazine, which replaces the Alumni Magazine, will be distributed to all alumni, parents, and friends of the University, according to Harold W. Van Winkle, director of University Publications and News Service.

A large photo of Dr. James Robert Overman, professor of mathematics, will be the chief feature on the cover of the 16-page publication. Dr. Overman, who will retire in June, is the only original member of the University faculty still on the active teaching staff.

The content of the magazine will consist especially of news about the University building and capital improvements program.

Political Scientist Discusses 1956 Campaign, Presidential Powers

Departing from his announced topic, "Men and Issues in 1956," Dr. Peter H. Odegard, professor of political science at the University of California, told an audience Tuesday in the main auditorium that the main attention in the coming political campaign should be centered on the office of the president.

Dr. Odegard's speech was one of the annual series of speeches sponsored by the Social Science Divisional Council of the University Faculty.

Presidential Interpretation

In explaining his main thesis, Dr. Odegard said that the Constitution gives the president the executive powers of the United States and the manner in which the president interprets this power reflects his worthiness to his office. Since many of the presidential powers also depend on Congressional authorization, the presidency can be a "masquerade of power," the California educator stated.

In any election campaign, the president is an important force, Dr. Odegard believes, because the major parties lack internal unity and need some influence from the White House to "cajole and coerce the party within."

Job Pictured

As background to his above views, Dr. Odegard presented a detailed picture of the job which stands before the victorious presidential candidate. The professor pointed out that the president of

Kennedy To Direct Treble Clef In Home Concert Sunday Evening

The Treble Clef Club will present its home concert Sunday, March 11, in the Main Auditorium at 2:30 p.m., according to the music department.

Under the direction of Dr. James Paul Kennedy, the club will present a diversified program including "Zion Hort de Wachter Singen," by Dietrich Buxtehude, in which the two-part chorus will be sung in German, and "Pueri Habraeorum," by Randall Thompson, a double choir number sung in Latin.

"Postscripts," a choral suite by Isadore Freed, including "No Parking," "Paging Emily Post," and "A Theory in Ratios" will be an enlightening feature of the program. These are short anecdotal thoughts.

Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer," Mendelssohn's "Lift Thine Eyes," and Mozart's "Jehovah, I Would Sing Thy Praise" will also be included in the program.

Treble Clef Club is now in its thirty-second season. There are 115 women in the club. The group goes on tour each spring in addition to presenting concerts on the campus and making appearances in other cities in northwest Ohio.

President Cites Financial Waste In U.S. Colleges

Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, University president, addressed the eleventh annual National Conference on Higher Education early this week at the group's meeting in Chicago.

Dr. McDonald told the group that American universities are wasting from one-fourth to one-third of the funds they spend on capital improvement. The President feels that the waste occurs through the failure to get maximum use out of the existing facilities.

The President estimated that the colleges and universities of the country will need approximately 15 billion dollars by 1975 to take care of new building programs. Dr. McDonald said that educators have a large responsibility in seeing that the waste be held to a minimum.

"Everyone of us, if he will be completely honest, will find on his campus costly monuments in the form of buildings and other facilities that are even now unusable, only partially usable, or in some instances definite liabilities in the institution's educational program," Dr. McDonald said.

The President feels that long-range planning should include buildings and materials that are needed and a list of future and present needs of each department of the University. "The study of plant use should be thorough and all-inclusive, no space unit—not even the president's office—should be considered as sacrosanct and unchangeable."

A special session of the Interfraternity Council has been called for 4 p.m. today to vote on a motion that there will be no drinking at parties planned, organized, or financed by any fraternity. A second part of the motion requires a committee be set up for methods of policing and judging any violations and to decide on recommendations to be presented to the Council at its regular scheduled meeting, March 21.

This motion was a result of two hours of discussion presented to the group by Dean Arch Conklin and Dr. Elden T. Smith, advisers to the group, on the use of alcoholic beverages at fraternity parties, especially those connected with rushing. The use of alcoholic beverages on the campus or at any affair held off the campus, that is registered with the University is considered illegal, and is grounds for suspension of the group responsible, or the individuals involved.

The council passed an amendment to the constitution which allows for the acceptance of any social fraternity to membership on the IFC for a probationary period of two years. During this period the group would not be allowed to vote but would be allowed to speak. The organization on probation would be subject to the rights and privileges of the members and be bound to obey all laws of the Council. This motion must be approved by President Ralph W. McDonald.

The petition of Delta Epsilon, formerly the Men's Independent Society, was read to the group and they were granted acceptance as probationary members of the IFC, pending the approval of the constitutional amendment by Dr. McDonald.

President Richard Weaver issued warnings to Alpha Kappa Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Sigma Nu because of scholastic difficulties last semester. If any of these groups receives point averages this semester below 2.25, they will be put on social probation and if they are below 2.25 for three semesters they will be faced with suspension and possible loss of the charter.

Names of the recipients as released by Colonel Myers are as follows:

Ron Arehart, James Conley, John Cunningham, Clark Hill, Richard Manhart, Jerry Milnor, Carl Vaicek, Ralph Wells, Robert West, Willis Woodruff, and Lee Zimmerman.

The Pershing Rifles and the Army ROTC Drum and Bugle Corps also took part in the retreat ceremony.

30 AFROTC Students To Attend Elks Meeting

Approximately 30 AFROTC students from Bowling Green attended a meeting of the Elks Club, in Findlay, March 7, said Lt. Col. Carl G. Arnold, professor of air science.

The speaker was Col. J. R. Wyse, chief of operations of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton. His talk was entitled "The Sonic Boom."

Bloodmobile Seeks Donors Wednesday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Bowling Green this Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Appointments for blood donations may be made with Dr. J. Russell Coffey, professor of health and physical education. Eight donors will be taken every 15 minutes. Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, will prepare the schedule and make arrangements. The goal is 150 pints.

In Our Opinion

Proper Attitude

The opening of the "Grotto," new student night club, last week end was witness of a student-initiated program that proved initially successful. The new club fills a long-felt need in student life and makes a moderate adjustment of an all important social life.

The success of the venture is not so important in itself, as are the reasons which made it successful. The profound acceptance of the program lies in the fact that the idea wasn't left to mildew in conception, as has been the case with so many student outings which have ended in failure. The success of the "Grotto" must be attributed to a combined student effort doggedly followed from the earliest concept to the culmination of a multitude of ideas.

The attitude displayed by those responsible for the "Grotto" is an attribute altogether too often lacking in student undertakings. We've found it easier to think up ideas, and then be entirely disgruntled because they are not carried out by others.

Herein too, lies the power of students on their own campus. Most anything can be accomplished to better student life, but without the proper attitude and effort toward gaining the end results, ideas remain far-fetched desires.

Weather Causes Weird Reactions; Even Dogs Dislike Pop Quizzes

By DICK BUDD

The latest change (or rather changes) in the weather has brought with it some strange reactions. As we sit here writing, persons can be seen all around the room yawning and dragging one foot after the other in a state of attempted animation. This condition, we have noted, is not native to this one room, but has spread throughout the entire campus.

In fact one can even note while gazing out the dirty classroom windows that the weather has been forcing the birds to walk. It will be interesting to see what color pills the hospital will be giving out for the latest epidemic of "sleeping sickness."

Seems Bowling Green is going to the dogs. Wednesday morning 20 some students and one dog entered a journalism class. The dog curled up under a chair in the third row and rested comfortably and quietly, oblivious to the professor's lecture.

Animals really aren't dumb either. When the same professor announced a pop quiz, the dog got up and left the room, returning as the students handed in their papers.

Obviously a liberal arts student, the dog left the journalism class at the appointed time, strolled across the hall and attended his 11 o'clock advertising class. We're told the professor said he didn't mind dogs in the classroom as long as they didn't compete with his lectures by whining and yawning. The dog isn't charged for auditing courses.

Discussing animals, one student in Florida was thoughtful enough to bring his girl a small present. How long it will remain a small present is the question. He ordered her an alligator.

The package arrived Wednesday, and the student was caught without housing reservations for the newly acquired pet. At present the 'gator is resting quietly in a borrowed bathtub. Needless to say, the occupants of the house are a little on edge, fearing that their pet cat and the alligator might get into it.

People down OU way have come up with a real original slogan for their campus chest drive, "Don't pass the buck—give it!" Just so happens that the slogan was originated by our own chest drive committee last year.

Give to every Human being the right you claim for yourself.

The members of a national fraternity at Drury College are feeling a little low these days. They're going to get rid of their mascot. The "pet" is a seven-foot boa constrictor. It will be donated to a local zoo.

News writing is really the strangest of professions. A young reporter was covering an accident in which a man was killed falling into an open elevator shaft. After carefully preparing what he considered a real master-piece, the copy desk ordered him to cut his story. He reworked the facts and cut the story to the bare minimum. The copy desk again rejected the story and told the reporter to make it shorter.

When finished the story read, "John Smith walked across the hotel lobby to an open elevator shaft. He looked up to see if the elevator was coming. He was 29.

Jobs Available For Summer

The office of Student Financial Aid has received many requests from employers for students to work this summer, announced Robert E. McKay, student financial aid counselor. Job areas include camp counseling, restaurant, resort, and national park employment.

Most of the employment requests are in the field of camp work, Mr. McKay said. Boys Club, YMCA, YMCA, Scout, and private camps have an average season of eight weeks, furnishing room and board to employees.

Employment opportunities, for the most part, are located in the Ohio-Michigan-Indiana area, Mr. McKay reported. The season pay scale for camp work ranges from $100 to $400, for counselors and assistant directors, he stated.

Mr. McKay urged students to investigate available summer jobs as soon as possible. "Job counseling is a service we maintain for the student body," he explained. The Financial Aid Office is located in 207 Administration Bldg.

New Library Display Shows Fine Printing

Books representing "A Sampling of Fine Printing" now on display in the University Library were assembled by Mrs. Miriam De Largey, reference librarian. One book, displayed for its fine printing, is A. F. Johnson's "One Hundred Title Pages, 1,500 through 1,800," which contains unusual title pages over a 300 year period.

Charles Rosner's, "Printer's Progress," illustrates samples of type and reproductions over a 100 year period.

"The Penrose Annual" displays illustrations, printing, color, and other essentials necessary for book making.

Illustrations of Ohio flowers, as seen in O. E. Jennings' "Wild Flower of Western Pennsylvania and the upper Ohio Basin," are other examples of fine printing.

"The New Colophon, 1950," is composed of pages from famous books like the Gutenberg Bible. It is also composed of articles about famous book makers like Benjamin Franklin.

Striking for its realistic illustrations of furniture, effective lighting, textiles, glass and ceramics, is the forty-fifth edition of "Decorative Arts, 1955-56."

Chorale To Present Concert March 11

The Butler Chorale, a 23-voice chorus from Butler University, will present a concert of sacred and secular music in the First Methodist Church on Sunday, March 11 at 8 p.m.

The group comes to Bowling Green under the sponsorship of the University A Cappella Choir, and is directed by Bruce Tolbert.

The program will include these numbers: "Stabat Mater," by Verdi; "O Praise the Lord for All His Mercies," a cantata by Bach; "Dark Cloud Cover the Sea," by Deane Shure; and "Eli, Eli," arranged by Schindler in the first half.

The second and lighter half of the program will consist of these selections: "The Area of a Regular Polygon," by Bryan; "Arma Virumque Cano," also by Bryan; "Sinner, Please Don't Let This Harvest Pass," arranged by Lynn; "Way Up in Heaven," arranged by Johnson; "Who Is That Yonder," arranged by Boatner; and "Ain't A That Good News," arranged by Dawson.

Four soloists listed for the concert are Mary Hagopian, soprano; Mary Beck, mezzo soprano; Philip Thatcher, tenor; and Joseph Huffman, baritone. There is no admission for the concert, but a free will offering will be taken.

Speaker, Aquatics Will Be Featured At A.M.A. Meeting

The Northwestern Ohio Chapter of the American Marketing Association will hold its annual educational meeting at Bowling Green State University, March 14, stated Lewis F. Manhart, past president of the chapter and associate professor of business administration at Bowling Green.

The program will start at 6 p.m. with a dinner at the Charles Restaurant. A business session will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Hall. Thomas G. McGann, marketing consultant and professor of marketing, Marquette University, will speak on "Analyzing and Controlling Distribution Cost." According to Mr. Manhart, Mr. McGann is considered an expert on distribution costs in the United States.

Following the business meeting, the association will be entertained by the Swan Club with an aquatic show at the Natatorium.

The dinner, business meeting, and aquatic show is open to all students and faculty. Price of the dinner is $2.50 and reservations must be made with Miss Bahler, 302 Administration Bldg., before noon, March 13.

FACULTY ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Dr. Martha Gesling, director of the University Education Clinic and Dr. Frank C. Arnold, director of the University Counseling Service are traveling to Ohio State University today to attend a joint conference on proposed training programs for school psychologists.

Scholarship Blanks Are Now Available

Students who wish to receive scholarships or financial aid for the academic year 1956-57 should secure blanks from the financial aid office, 207 Administration Bldg. Robert E. McKay, student financial aid counselor, stated that the blanks must be returned to the office by April 15.

This notice applies both to students now enrolled in the University who are receiving scholarships and grants-in-aid and those who never have received financial assistance, Mr. McKay said last week.

Official Announcements

All juniors who plan to do student teaching next year and who have not yet made application, are to report to the department of education office, 205 Elementary Bldg., no later than Friday, March 16.

Rehearsals for the University Symphony Orchestra will be scheduled Monday from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., and Thursday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. for the rest of the semester.

Application for admission to the Women's Counselor Training Program from which next year's counselors will be chosen are available at each dormitory from the Head Resident, and for sorority and off-campus residents in the Dean of Women's Office. Refer to the announcements in your residence.

Political Scientist

edle-dee' and 'Tweedle-dum.' "Tweedle-dee" and "Tweedle-dum" were fictional characters that no one could tell apart. Many political theorists believe this to be the case with the Democrats and Republicans—that there is actually no difference between them.

In disproving this theory, Dr. Odegard stated that the best evidence lies in a tabulation of Congressional roll calls over various periods which indicate that there are significant differences in party voting on the major legislative issues. The Californian then gave a detailed listing of the general voting beliefs of the two parties which reveal wide variations. As a result, he concluded, the voters are given a definite choice of party preference and "Tweedle-dee" and "Tweedle-dum" are non-existent.

Party Problems

Focusing his attention on the party roles in the 1956 election, Dr. Odegard predicted that the main problem of the two parties would be to "hold the faithful and win the doubtful." If a candidate expects to win the election, the political analyst explained, he must gain the votes of those persons who do not have a definite party preference and, at the same time, retain the votes of those who are in his own party.

The California professor also forecast that the most significant feature of the campaign would be the struggle between the conservative and liberal elements within the two parties. According to Dr. Odegard, the liberals "take an affirmative view of government, and believe that it can be an instrument of 'the good life.'" "On the other hand," he said, "the conservatives believe that America can live in isolation, that freedom of speech is dangerous, and that the white race is superior and ordained to rule."

Quoted Shakespeare

Moving to his conclusion, Dr. Odegard returned to his main topic, the job of the president. He quoted a passage from Shakespeare's "Hamlet" which might well be the thoughts that run through a president's mind when his office seems to be overwhelming him. Said Shakespeare, "The time is out of joint. O cursed spite, that ever I was born to set it right."

Olympic History Traced From Greek Temples To Australia

By HERB MOSKOWITZ

This is part one of a two-article series on the Olympic Games. The second article, to appear in Tuesday's issue will concern the results of the Olympics since the turn of the century.

On Nov. 22, in Melbourne, Australia, trumpets will sound across the arena. On the flagpole, the Olympic flag, white with five interlocking circles representing the continents, will take its place beside the flags of almost every civilized nation in the world. From outside the stadium, the Australian Army will fire a 21-gun salute and from the side of the stadium a runner will appear with the Olympic torch, which has been relayed from the Temple of Zeus on Mount Olympus in Greece. A parade of athletes will follow with Greece traditionally first and Australia, the host, last. An Australian athlete will take the Olympic oath and the 16th Olympic Games will be officially opened.

Al Sawdy May Attend

Below the stands at the Melbourne Cricket grounds will be an army of doctors and officials possibly including Al Sawdy, Bowling Green's trainer. Mr. Sawdy is one of a group of seven American trainers that is being considered for Melbourne.

"The important thing in the Olympic Games is not winning, but taking part; the essential thing in life is not conquering, but in fighting well." These words express the creed of Baron Pierre de Coubertin who, in 1896, revived the Olympic Games. The original Games were started in 776 B.C. and lasted until 394 A.D. when Emperor Theodosius I of Rome banned them as a pagan exhibition.

At the first modern revival of the Games in 1896, at Athens, Greece, a small group of athletes flourished through a rather clumsy track meet. In the six decades since, the modern games have become what their founder, Baron de Coubertin, hoped that they might be and what the games actually are: the World's No. 1 sporting event.

Most Sports Included

The sports included in the present day games include swimming and diving, which the United States usually excels in, boxing, wrestling, Greco-Roman wrestling, weight-lifting, rowing, fencing, gymnastics for men and women, cycling, canoeing, field hockey, soccer, shooting, basketball, the decathlon and the pentathlon.

The major events of the games are in the track and field category with the United States excelling in this field. We have sent such men as Mal Whitfield and Jesse Owens, formerly of Ohio State, and Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace to bring back awards and honor for the U.S. on the Olympic track. In swimming, the records of Buster Crabbe, Johnny Weissmuller, Ohio State's Ford Konno, Vickie Draves, and Ann McCormick have gained us Olympic titles. In Helsinki, in 1952, the U.S. team was losing to the Russians, who had entered the Olympics that year for the first time since 1912, and it was Ford Konno who put us ahead to eventually win the title.

Officially, no nation wins the Olympics. Patterned on the Greek models, each event is an individual contest of which the winner is a specialized team. As there are

Seniors Teaching In Area Schools

Sixteen seniors majoring in health and physical education are taking their secondary school student teaching this semester at various high schools in this area, according to Warren Steller, department supervisor.

Students are Paul Atkinson, William Baugh, David Young, Robert LaTour, and Max Chapman, Bowling Green High School; Sam Epstein, Toledo Libbey; Carl Ford, Rossford; Richard Johoske, Napoleon; Emanuel Kallos, Swanton; Charles Kisselle, and Richard Kreg, Fremont; Robert Kristinak, Lakeside; Glenn Matter, and Jerome Noss, Sylvania; Richard Prest, Oregon Township; and Gene Ray, Toledo Woodward.

The students began teaching Feb. 9 at these schools and will continue there until March 28. April 4 they will transfer to another school system.

Students are assigned to teaching on a full-day basis for a minimum of 15 weeks. Their teaching responsibilities are supplemented with individual and group conferences and a two-hour seminar each week, Steller added.

The Name's The Same And Relative Too

Paul Dressel, a senior member of Bowling Green's swim team and a counselor in Rodgers Quadrangle, was quite interested in an item appearing in Feb. 28 issue of The B-G News.

Under the headline "Dressel To Give Talk on General Education," a story appeared that Dr. Paul Dressel, a professor at Michigan State and a top authority on education in the United States was going to speak on campus.

A lot of Paul's friends began to jokingly congratulate him on getting his doctorate at such an early age, and on his accomplishments in the field of education. However, it turned out to be more than just a case of "The Name's the Same" when Paul A. Dressel pointed out that Dr. Paul L. Dressel was actually a distant relative.

Sigs, KDs, Cop Relay Titles

BY RON SUPINSKI

Banners waved, feet flew, and bodies sprawled last Monday in the Men's Gym during the seventh running of the interfraternity track relays.

Color and thrills and spills galore—this event had them all—from the resounding cheers from the enthusiastic bleacherites to the steady patter of leather-footed sprinters. Thirteen fraternities in all participated in this annual baton-passing contest.

Sigma Chi fraternity literally ran off with the bulk of the laurels in the men's division. Kappa Delta sorority topped the women's division by placing first in the two-lap race with its sophomore quartet of Elizabeth Cook, Jacqueline Strine, Joyce McCleary, and Ruth Wolfe. These girls ran the course in 37.3 seconds, nosing out Alpha Chi Omega sorority, last year's relay winner, by one tenth of a second.

Eight Sororities

A total of eight sororities were in the running. Third place went to the Chi Omega with the time of 38.4 seconds. Alpha Phi and Delta Gamma sororities finished in the fourth and fifth slots, respectively.

Trophy winners in the men's division were the Sigma Chi's and Delta Tau Delta. The former piled up three first-place wins for a leading total of 24 points. Right behind them were the Deltas with 20 points on the strength of first, second, fourth, and sixth-place finishes. Phi Delta Theta's 15 points were enough to clinch fourth spot while the Pi Kappa Alpha speedsters finished fifth with 11 points.

Alpha Kappa Omega was impressive in its interfraternity track debut and finished third with 17 points.

Relay Team

Delta Tau Delta's relay team of Joe DeLuca, Michael Scholler, Richard Jewett, and Dan Canterbury were declared winners in the 4-lap event after posting a time of 58 seconds.

Showing their heels to the rest of the pack, the Sigma Chi aggregate of Keith Kramer, Theodore Johnson, Wayne Schake, and Emil Petti darted into the 2-lap lead for a 29.2 second win. Its foursome of Tom Kisselle,

Richard Kneiss, Corwin Hutchison, and Thomas Toolan combined to top the 8-lap relay field. Their time was 2 minutes, 01.5 seconds. And Kisselle and Hutchison along with William Page and Charles Romaker raced to the lead early to nab the 12-lap relay win in 3 min. 19.6 sec.

Bellard Names 3 Valuable Men

Next year's Bowling Green wrestling team will be minus Michael Longuil, John Mikush, and Carl Ford, who will graduate this year. These boys have all proved themselves valuable in making this year's wrestling team the best in Falcon history.

Michael Longuil from Nyack, N.Y., where he was captain of the Nyack High School wrestling team, and an All-Conference choice for four years. He earned letters in football and track while in high school. In the 123-pound class Mike was undefeated in five matches. Majoring in industrial arts, he plans to teach following his graduation.

Another graduating senior on this year's team is Jack Mikush who lives in Scmerville, N.J. Jack attended Hanover High School in Wilkes-Barre, Penn., where he earned letters in both wrestling and baseball. His record this year in the Mid-American Conference reads two wins, one loss, one tie. Jack, who served four years in the Air Force, is majoring in industrial arts.

Carl Ford is the final graduating senior from Mansfield. He attended Mansfield Senior High. Wrestling in the 130-pound class, Carl earned three wins, and two losses this year in the Mid-American Conference. Carl is majoring in physical education.

BG Food Peps Up Swim Performances For MAC Meet

Bowling Green may well lay claim to having been host to the best-fed swimmers in the state after this weekend's Mid-American Conference swimming activities come to a close. Swimming 1,500 meters is a rough grind, but the natators were in good shape last night after a meal consisting of grilled tenderloin steak, tomato juice, potatoes, carrot strips, head lettuce salad, hot rolls and butter, apple pie, and milk.

Good Start

The mermen should get off to a good start in today's 50-yd. freestyle and diving preliminaries after a breakfast of scrambled eggs, broiled bacon strips, orange juice, oatmeal, toast and butter, and a milk. Grilled cheese sandwiches, tomato soup and crackers, peas, pineapple-apricot salad, and butterscotch cake will be served for lunch. After working up their appetites in this afternoon's events, the tankers will be served a dinner of pan-broiled lake perch or grilled cube steak, orange juice, oven-browned potatoes, green beans, fruits for salad-on-lettuce, hot rolls and butter, milk and ice cream.

Tomorrow Morning

Tomorrow morning, in preparation for the diving preliminaries, the backstroke, breaststroke and freestyle time trials the natators will have a breakfast of broiled bacon strips, scrambled eggs, orange juice, oatmeal, cold cereal, toast and milk. The swimmers can stuff themselves at the last meal tomorrow afternoon, which will consist of hamburgers, potato chips, chicken noodle soup, lettuce wedge, fruit cup, and milk.

The tankmen are being housed in East and West Halls for the week end and each man has been supplied with linen and blankets. An entry fee of 25 cents per man and $1 per relay team was charged for the meet.

3 Grapplers In Cleveland Meet

Bruce Bellard, wrestling coach announced that three men will be entered in the Interstate Tournament, March 10. The tournament will be held at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland.

Men entering the event from the University will be Jim Krupa, Paul McDonald, and Jim Derr. Coach Bellard said other varsity members could have participated if they had wanted to.

This tournament is the largest independent tournament in the Midwest. Some of the schools entering are Michigan University, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame, and Ohio University. The tournament is not a team event, but an individual event.

Otterbein To Hold Women's Sports Day

Sports Day will be held at Otterbein College, Westerville, tomorrow and members of various women's intramural sports will be going.

Representing volleyball are the Williams Hall "Highsockers," winner of the intramural championship. Badminton club and Bowling club are each sending five members. Since the basketball tournament has just begun, a team "Prout Anonymous" was picked to attend.

Ray, Ellis Lead Falcon Scorers; 6 Players Top 100-Point Mark

By MARV MEGISON

A hopeless and discouraged Bowling Green basketball contingent hung up their uniforms last Wednesday after suffering a 93 to 91 defeat at the hands of Kent State University to compete one of the worst seasons ever played by the Falcons.

Coach Harold Anderson's aggregation started the season off with what was thought to be a fine veteran squad but ended the year's play with a very unimpressive 4 win, 19 loss record.

Falcons Dropped

The Falcons dropped eleven out of 12 Mid-American tiffs, winning their only contest from Western Michigan in a double overtime thriller in the second game of the season. In MAC competition they lost two to Miami, two to Toledo, two to Kent State, two to Ohio U., two to Marshall, and one to Western Michigan, acquiring the cellar position in the league.

Although the won-loss column for the Falcons is definitely one-sided the scoring record shows the club dropping five tiffs by only two points, one to Ohio U. in a double overtime, and three games by four points.

Scoring Marks Impressive

Individual scoring marks were impressive also. Eugene Ray rounded out his scores at 367 points for 23 games. He scored 212 of those in MAC competition. Chrystal Ellis hit 329 total points, Max Chapman 213, Al Reinke 142, Jim Tucker 141, John Slesinger 123, Al Benning 79, Jim Reid 71, Tom Dakich 66, and Tom Schwyn 45. In the MAC Ellis scored 178 and Chapman 113.

For the season the Falcons hit 599 field goals to the opponents

645. Total scores for the season added to 1,692 to the opponents 1,858.

333 Field Goals Scored

In the MAC, Bowling Green scored 333 field goals out of 893 chances for a .373 per cent and 248 free throws out of a possible 385 for a .644 per cent. They had 914 total points and 269 personal fouls in league play. Opponents in the league scored 990 total points, hitting 353 field goals and 284 free throws.

6 Churches Arrange Dinners For Students

The Rev. Paul Bock, United Christian Fellowship adviser, announced that six Bowling Green Protestant Churches have planned dinners for students Sunday evening, March 11.

The Reverend Bock added that "Church Night Suppers" have become an annual affair throughout the Bowling Green Protestant denominations. Its purpose is to assist Bowling Green State University students in becoming better acquainted with the congregations of the various churches.

Dinners in all churches will start at 5:30 p.m. They will be followed by entertainment planned primarily by students. Rev. Bock pointed out that the type of entertainment will probably differ in each of the churches. Instrumental solos, vocal solos, group singing, games and movies will feature the after-dinner amusement.

Churches participating in the student-congregation dinners are the First Christian, the First Methodist, the First Presbyterian, St. John's Episcopal, Trinity Evangelical Brethren, and Plain Congregational.

AWS Carries Out Many Functions; Has Social, Legislative Purposes

When the average Bowling Green coed thinks of Association of Women Students, she has a mental picture of a powerful law-making group, enforcing rules and giving demerits. Although this is one of the primary jobs of its judicial board, it is only part of the work of AWS.

The legislative board sponsors a very comprehensive social program, highlighted by the Christmas Formal, the Christmas Caroling, the May Sing, the Senior Breakfast, the Leadership Banquet, the big and little sister program, and a freshman mixer during Orientation Week.

"We have been trying," said Jo Lee Fuller, first vice-president, "to make the women of this campus realize how close they are to this organization, through their house chairmen, head residents, and class representatives."

Officers

Elected officers of AWS must have a minimum accumulative average of 2.5. The president and first vice-president are senior women who have served on the board for at least one year. The second vice-president and the treasurer must be juniors. The recording and corresponding secretaries are members of the sophomore class. There are also elected representatives from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. A freshman representative is appointed after applications by freshman women have been considered by the legislative board. Representation is also assured Bowling Green women through house chairmen of all campus residence halls, delegates from the Women's Recreation Association, and Panhellenic Council. Advisers of the group are Florence Currier, dean of women, and Miss Elinor Elsass, head resident of Shatzel Hall.

National Affiliation

The group at Bowling Green is part of the National Association of Women Students. Last spring Linda Sue Johnson, president, and Jo Lee Fuller went as dele-

Head Resident's Past Occupations Range From Coaching To Drama

After being graduated from college Miss Harriet Daniels, head resident of Kohl Hall, served in many capacities, from a high school basketball coach to a comptometer operator before coming to Bowling Green.

She was graduated from Wittenberg College, Springfield, and received her master's degree in personnel and guidance from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

A veteran teacher of 30 years, she began teaching in Neptune, Ohio, where she served as basketball coach, referee, junior class play coach, home economics, Latin, and English teacher. From this Ohio town she moved to a high school in New Haven, Ind., where she became head of its English department. She also taught courses in health and physical education.

During the war, Miss Daniels applied her talents to running a comptometer for three summers.

The past eight years have revealed this "Jill of all trades" as a capable head resident. Kohl Hall has been her home for the past three years. Before coming to Bowling Green she was head resident at Michigan State Normal College for two years and spent three years at Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind.

"The girls in Kohl Hall have adjusted quite well to our crowded dormitory conditions," commented Miss Daniels. "By following rigid procedures," Miss Daniels explained, "we get along well with the least amount of friction."
